Excerpt: .the gentle clasp of Sadie Patten s tack-nails, and leaning over from the tops of the windows as if already tired of the sun and wanting a little rest. Well, let s see your hammer. No, I m using it, I m a young lady now and do as I please, cried Mary, springing up from the kitchen hearth, and scattering her walnuts broadcast, catch me if you can. Is that so? Well, then, now for a race from here to the sweet-apple tree. One, two, three, begin! And Preston started off at the top of his speed, Mary just before him; her face aglow, her hair streaming in the wind. As she skimmed over the ground, shouting and laughing, she seemed for all the world like a little girl, and not in the least like a young lady. She was soon caught and...
