Robertson Smith to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the Expositor, and the British Quarterly Review, in Relation to the Truth, Inspiration, and Authority of the Holy Scriptures To those who are impressed with a deep sense of the importance of the questions which have arisen concerning the published writings of Professor W. R. Smith, as affecting the very foundations of the Christian faith, it is unnecessary to offer any apology for the publication of the present pamphlet. Its object is to examine fairly, and as completely as possible, all the articles by Professor Smith, in the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and in other publications, which have been denounced as setting forth views inconsistent with a full belief in the Truth, Inspiration, and Authority of the Holy Scriptures. It is with great pain that the writer declares his conviction, for which the reasons will be exhibited in the following pages, that this inconsistency is real and complete, however blind Mr Smith himself may be to the fact. That such is generally felt to be the case is evident, not only from the expressions of pain and regret, of anxiety and alarm, which have proceeded from Christians of all evangelical denominations, since the article Bible in the Encyclopaedia Britannica, was published, but also from the universal jubilation of infidels and semi-infidels, and of the godless and profane, who have exulted in a fancied triumph over what they are pleased to call Bibliolatry, and have greeted Mr Smith with what ought to be to him most unacceptable praise. Principal Tulloch has only expressed the common sentiment of men...
