

Teaching Iraq: What Shall I Tell My Students?

By Kirk Stapp

Outskirts Press, United States, 2009. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 231 x 155 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Vietnam, 1966: In a jungle firefight there are no Christians, only men fighting to stay alive. There isn't time to pray. Jason Cord, a haunted Vietnam veteran who won a Silver Star, Bronze Star with a V for valor and two Purple Hearts, teaches Political Science and American Lit to senior and junior high school students. When Jason recently asked Matt, a former student who just returned from Iraq, How was it? ; Matt simply answered, God has forsaken Iraq. Teaching Iraq is history and fiction. It weaves together the existential moments that shaped Jason Cord in Vietnam with his passion for teaching, his unwavering regard for his students, and his struggle to teach the truth. Iraq: The tides of an Iraqi night ebb and flow. Beneath Matt's Humvee the day's heat radiated from the desert sands; above him frigid air spilled from the icy oceans that drift between the stars and moon. The IED went off under the engine of the first gunship. The blast came up through the floor taking Ramirez legs...

READ ONLINE

[9 MB]

Reviews

This written publication is wonderful. It really is loaded with knowledge and wisdom You will not really feel monotony at at any time of your time (that's what catalogues are for relating to if you ask me).

-- Desmond Becker

Absolutely essential go through publication. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. You will not feel monotony at at any time of the time (that's what catalogues are for regarding if you ask me).

-- Ambrose Thompson II